

LELE SADOUGHI

Recalling the thrill of 1950s Cuba, the Lele Sadoughi Spring / Summer 2014 collection echoes the glamour and decadence of the legendary Tropicana, where the cabaret reigned as a global destination for European royals, titans of industry, and Hollywood glitterati alike.

Evoking the nightclub's iconic architecture, fantastic dancer costumes, and the lush foliage of surrounding Havana, Lele Sadoughi cleverly interprets mirrored surfaces, the click of wooden castanets, and striking banana leaf shapes, as well as her classic Slider Bracelet, in the brand's signature striated stone and 14K gold-plated combination. As always, color is king for Lele Sadoughi, and this season's luxurious assortment bursts forth with complimentary hues: Mints blend with malachite shades; rich coconut colors enliven next to canary yellow; and a juicy palate of coral, watermelon, and pink sand transport to a tropical, bygone era.

With new crystal pavé colorways and editorial additions such as the Flamingo pendant, Banana Leaf necklace, and the Havana Bib (the latter boasting a unique combination of macadamia-like beads and hematite spheres inspired by straw skirts) Lele Sadoughi's diverse, luxurious Spring / Summer offering befits the boldest and most discerning of audiences, conjuring fantasies of a vintage paradise, endless oceans, and the fashionable future beyond.
